

2019
ACCOMPLISHMENTS REPORT

A letter from Lindsay

In my more than five years at The Food Bank, there has been no challenge greater than the COVID-19 epidemic. Many found themselves in need of food assistance for the first time while we simultaneously faced unprecedented strains to the food supply chain. I greatly look forward to being able to share our story of success in reacting to COVID-19. But, for now, this report is reflective of our incredible work in 2019, before the world seemingly changed overnight.

Several years ago, as a member of Feeding America, we adopted the Foods to Encourage initiative — an effort among food banks to focus on providing fresh, nutritional food. Today, more than 60% of what The Food Bank distributes consists of healthy foods that would typically be too expensive for families to afford, such as fruits, vegetables and protein.

We have also grown our programs serving students, seniors and people in food deserts through Mobile Pantries. Only a few years in, our VIP Veteran Pack Program is helping 350 veterans monthly across seven counties, and we plan to expand the service to other communities.

Still, The Food Bank is always creating new ways to help neighbors struggling with access to food. Last year, we started a new program — Share Boxes. Through it, we are partnering with local law enforcement agencies to provide people identified as in-need with a package of food as quickly as possible. One day, we hope to expand it to other agencies that often interact with people facing hunger and to utilize in times of disaster.

This annual report is a testament to the impact of our work, and I am overcome with pride when I consider our growth as an organization. The credit for this progress belongs to you, our generous donors and volunteers. I can only imagine what we will accomplish together in the next five years. Thank you for your partnership.

Gratefully,

Lindsay Young Lopez

100,000 people served monthly in 32 counties

One in seven Missourians struggle with food insecurity, and for children it is worse at one in six. This means thousands of Missourians lack enough nutritional food to regularly eat healthy. Our mission is to end hunger in our communities.

partner agencies

The bulk of The Food Bank's work is in providing food to partner agencies at no cost so they can feed people in need. These organizations are local, like your town's food pantry, soup kitchen or shelter.

schools served

Among the most vulnerable to food insecurity are students. To learn and grow, they need nutrition. That's why The Food Bank operates the Buddy Pack and School Pantry programs.

The Foundation of Hope

Corporate partners, foundations and organizations provide the groundwork of hope with continued support year after year. We rely on these community leaders to ensure that we can operate efficiently. Groups that have given at least $10,000 in cumulative gifts, sponsorships or in-kind donations are part of this society.
